Brendan Murphy: BAGMAN

EdFringe 2015 | 00:00 @ Pleasance Courtyard | 7-30 August (not 17 or 24)

"Truly unique and very entertaining" - ThreeWeeks

"A flair for the more absurd" - The List

A deadbeat character comedy taking you on a journey through the stories contained within the contents of a forgotten cloakroom, BAGMAN is the debut solo show by Brendan Murphy (NewsRevue, Radio 4's Show What You Wrote, BBC Comedy Feeds) and directed by Hamish MacDougall. With a set that may include some of the audience's own belongings, each bag on display holds a different character and unwraps the stories we use to clothe ourselves; a stupid and surreal, one-man Sesame Street without the puppets.

"Peerless writing... Unmissable" Broadway Baby

"Well written and well delivered" Fest

Brendan Murphy is a Spotlight Award nominated actor, comedy writer and improviser regularly performing across the UK with The One Hour Plays, BattleActs! and alongside members of Austentatious, Boom Chicago, Monkey Toast and The Show Stoppers in the long-form group The Bishop. Other shows at EdFringe 2015 include 'The Beau Zeaux' (17.45 - Pleasance Courtyard) and 'BattleActs!' (22.00 - Free Sisters).
